

Mid Devon Natural History Society

was formed by a group of enthusiasts in 1981 and holds regular meetings based at St George's Church Hall, Beck's Square, Tiverton. New members and visitors are always welcome at the meetings (for a nominal charge). There are also field trips throughout the year.

Aims and Objectives of M.D.N.H.S.

- to encourage an interest in natural history;
- to study wildlife and its environment;
- to protect species of wildlife and the environment;
- to promote the exchange of ideas and interests both within the Society and with other natural history societies and conservation bodies;
- to conduct field study expeditions to places of interest.

The Part That You Can Play

If you are interested in any aspect of Natural History, you are welcome to join the Society. "Expert or novice, professional or amateur, old or young, the only qualifications necessary are interest and enthusiasm".

The Society's meetings and activities seek to cover all aspects of natural history. There is ample opportunity to learn from other members of the Society who have a wide range of interests and, in many cases, considerable expertise.

If your interest lies in a precise area, there is room for you to develop it within the Society and to share. The Society is affiliated to the Devon Wildlife Trust. Some meetings are organised in co-operation with other natural history and conservation groups. A newsletter is published regularly which includes articles by many of the members on their work and observations. Contributions are always welcome.

Subscriptions are due on January 1st each year.
